9. Variable Weather Conditions

- Participants must acknowledge and accept the risks associated with rapidly changing weather conditions.
- The Lake District is notorious for its rapidly changing weather. It's not uncommon to experience sunshine, rain, fog, and high wind all on the same day.

Rainfall: The region receives significant rainfall throughout the year, making trails muddy and slippery.

Fog and Low Visibility: The mountain peaks in the Lake District can often be shrouded in fog, reducing visibility. This can make navigation challenging and increase the risk of getting lost.

Wind: The mountains can be exposed to strong winds, especially at higher elevations. This can make walking difficult, particularly on ridges and summits.

Temperature Changes: At higher elevations, temperatures can drop significantly.

River Crossings: Heavy rainfall can cause rivers and streams to swell, making crossings challenging and dangerous.

10. Compulsory Walking Kit

- Participants must carry the full compulsory kit throughout the challenge. Random kit checks may be conducted, and failure to possess the required kit may result in removal from the event.
- All participants must carry an event tracking unit (provided at registration) to ensure safety. If the tracker is not returned at the end of the event, participants will be liable to pay a £250 fee.
- Event organisers reserve the right to modify the kit list for safety reasons.

11. Withdrawing from the Live Event

- Participants must familiarise themselves with the locations and timings of all cut-off points and short course options and agree to comply with instructions from all event Staff.
- In the event of withdrawal, participants must endeavour to contact Event Control or a member of the Hill Safety Team before leaving the route.
- By taking part all participants acknowledge that they understand that due to the topography of the area, both non-emergency and emergency vehicle evacuation can only be done at set locations and a decision to exit the route early will likely involve an extended walk (multiple hours) before they reach transportation

- The Organisers do not accept liability for vehicle damage or property within vehicles. All drivers must follow the Highway Code at all times and respect other road users.
- The Organisers are not responsible for team vehicle breakdowns.
